Antonio Naharro

I am a native Spanish language teacher from Barcelona with over 6 years living and working abroad continuously... I think you can only teach when the vocation and passion for sharing knowledge is internalized... I firmly believe in the cooperation between teachers and that group work is more effective for the student... I am an enthusiastic person I have worked in every continent of the world and I think that has made me evolve as a professional and has allowed me to acquire a series of intercultural competencies... Pressure does not affect me and, during the time, I was in charge of 45 people with the management of cultural events and I always knew how to achieve a good harmony among the team.
